Years ago, I naively believed that having just one blade on a razor was perfectly adequate. Then, two blade and three blade razors started appearing. Nowadays, we seem to have capped out at five and six blade razors. Well, similar trends are afoot in the casino industry. In the old days, slot machines used to have one top jackpot. But, in recent years, there has been a massive proliferation of games offering a feature known variously as "triple pot fillers", "three bag fillers", or "triple metamorphics". The game play is familiar to most players: when one, two, or all three pots burst, you're in a bonus round.

The triple metamorphic feature has become so popular that it has started its own arms race. Bao Zhu Zhao Fu Ignite launched with a quadruple pot filler in the form of four strings of fireworks. And – drum roll please – we recently launched a quintuple pot filler, called Five Fortunes. This game is a lot of fun, with each of the five bonus pots adding their own twist to the game.

Who knows how many metamorphic pots the slot machines of the future will have?! But one thing is sure: Seven Feathers will remain cutting edge. As long as multiple metamorphic pots remain popular, we'll go with the grain!

Check out Five Fortunes on the slot floor.

Until next time,

CHEF'S RECIPE

ENGLISH STYLE SCONES

A recipe from Pastry Chef, Tammy Augustus

INGREDIENTS

2 Cups	All-Purpose Flour (10 ounces by weight)
4 tsp	Baking Powder
½ tsp	Salt
¼ cup	Sugar
6 Tbsp.	Unsalted Butter, at room temperature
⅔ cup	Whole Milk
1 ea.	Large Egg

DIRECTIONS

1. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees F.
2. In a food processor, pulse the flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar a couple times to combine.
3. Add the butter and pulse 7-10 times until the butter is completely distributed. You shouldn't see any chunks of butter, and the mixture should have a sandy texture to it.
4. Transfer to a large mixing bowl.
5. In a small bowl, whisk to combine the milk and egg. Set aside 2 Tbsp. of it for the egg wash later and pour the rest into the mixing bowl with the dry ingredients.
6. Stir to combine with a spatula, until a rough dough forms.
7. Transfer to a lightly floured countertop and knead about 10 times until the dough comes together into a relatively smooth ball. Take care not to knead too much, or the dough will be tougher and not rise as high.
8. Roll the dough about an inch thick and use a 2.5" cutter to cut about 7 circles. Re-roll the scraps and cut out another 2.
9. Place the scones onto a parchment or silicone mat lined baking sheet and brush the tops with the reserved egg wash.
10. Bake the scones for 13-15 minutes, until about tripled in height, and golden brown on the tops and bottoms. Enjoy!
